

Adrian Guerrero

General Director of Public Affairs, Union Pacific Railroad

Adrian Guerrero is the General Director of Public Affairs for Union Pacific Railroad located in Roseville, CA. In this position, he leads a team that represents America's largest class one freight railroad before the legislatures and communities in Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and Washington. Prior to this role, Adrian was General Director of Network Development where he was responsible for leading franchise growth opportunities, public-private partnerships, passenger rail development, and strategic initiatives across Union Pacific's Western Region.

Adrian started with Union Pacific in 2012 as Director of Public Affairs for Illinois and Wisconsin where he managed community and government affairs, corporate philanthropy, and was responsible for the railroad's external relationships at the city, county and state levels. Prior to joining Union Pacific, Adrian served in various state and local government positions with the City of Chicago and State of Illinois.

He also served as Chairman of the Illinois Railroad Association, and various leadership roles with the Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce, Chicago Region Environmental and Transportation Efficiency (CREATE) Program, Chicago Metropolitan Agency for Planning, and Chicago Cook Workforce Partnership.

He earned his BA from DePaul University, and his JD from Chicago-Kent College of Law. Though a native Chicagoan, he and his family have quickly fallen in love with and embraced their new home in California.
